Client is a Fortune 100 company and one of the world's leading providers of enterprise cloud solutions to the telecommunications and financial services industry. Their clients include the world's largest corporations as well as national governments.

As part of the clients sales meeting in Dubai, UAE they decided to invite James Taylor to kick-start day two of their event. Attendees included 40 of their senior sales leadership from across the Middle East, Asia, Europe and North America.

The objective of James' session was to spark creativity and provide attendees with creative thinking tools to help these sales leaders generate ideas to achieve exponential growth for the business.

In addition to James conducting a pre-event call with the event team he also spent time reading the biography of their CEO which explained the unique corporate culture of the client. James then weaved some of the principles from this book into his presentation and designed a keynote which focused on developing passionate curiosity, openness and collaboration.

The final 90 minute presentation blended the latest insights on artificial intelligence, with stories on the power of curiosity, with highly interactive creative thinking activities.
